

KANE STANLEY SWEENEY

3/22/2007

Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University
2001 North Sheridan Road, 561A
Evanston, Illinois 60208
k-sweeney@kellogg.northwestern.edu

EDUCATION

Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University
PhD Student 2006-Present
Managerial Economics and Strategy

Washington University in Saint Louis
Bachelor of Science, magna cum laude 2003
Mathematics, College of Arts and Science
Finance, Olin School of Business

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

RCF Economic and Financial Consulting
Economist, Chicago, Illinois 2005-2006

Bank of America
Quantitative Management Associate
Quantitative Finance Department, Atlanta, Georgia 2004-2005
Portfolio Analysis Department, Charlotte, North Carolina, 2003-2004

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Olin School of Business
Teaching Assistant for Vlad Mares, Managerial Economics I and II (MBA)

WORKING PAPERS

"Selecting Experts: Cheap Talk and Common Interest" 3/2007
"Single Crossings and Efficient Auctions" 2/2007
"King Solomon's Dilemma with Robust Types" 3/2006
"Lattice Theory: A Primer with Applications" 5/2006